

Seth's Iceberg Theory

The tip refers to what adults usually notice and often attribute it to willfulness.

We need to address what's going on beneath the surface!

But there's usually something going on beneath the surface that is impacting executive function.

Is it a won't or a can't?